

Sarah Myers is co-owner of GeoComm Media Group, LLC and is a passionate and experienced consultant and supporter of small businesses and their success. GCM provides strategy, marketing, research, advertising, website development, digital marketing and marketing outsourcing services to a variety of local, regional and national clients.

Sarah previously worked at Garrett College to develop and implement the nationally recognized and very successful Power of Possibilities initiative which included conferences, mentoring, maker fairs and business plan competitions for entrepreneurs and want-to-be entrepreneurs. Sarah is a passionate, successful entrepreneur that has founded and developed a number of businesses. She currently co-owns Deep Creek Times with Mike Tumbarello, which is an online portal serving small businesses and citizens in the Deep Creek Lake area. Additionally, Sarah provides additional content development services through her Curb Appeal Marketing business. Sarah is also active in credit and non-credit training and education to a variety of populations.

